The National Society of Black Women in Medicine, formerly known as Black Women in Medicine Inc., was founded on the campus of Florida State University on October 14th 2017 by Amber Balkcom and Ashlei Phillips. The two students had the idea on a walk back to the campus library. They both agreed that there was a need for more representation of minority women in medicine and scientific disciplines. That night in lieu of studying Amber typed up the mission statement of Black Women in Medicine with Ashlei by her side designing the infamous logo. They were prepared to take on a new challenge that later transformed into a movement.

Membership Spotlight

Theresa Carter, MS, RN, RBNA founding member has contributed tremendously to sickle cell work. She joined ROC City Sickers in 2020, an advocacy group for children and families living with sickle cell. Since then, Carter has spearheaded many activities on their behalf, including securing speakers of interest for educational inservices and devising a mental health and wellness resource list with information on the crisis and suicide hotlines, hospitals, and centers open to assist with mental health concerns and a teen crisis center; supporting sickle cell blood drives quarterly and donating blood at least 4-5 times per year, facilitating the donation of $500 of grant money from RBNA to Pharmacy/Social Work at a local hospital to assist with the purchase of medications for those with sickle cell, joining the Sickle Cell Advocates of Rochester to increase community awareness, and educating and advocating for individuals with sickle cell disease and their families.

Please share something special going on in your life. New job, any accolades/awards received. We want to spotlight your hard work.

If you would like to be spotlighted in our BIWEEKLY membership newsletter, please send our corresponding secretary Dr. Sheniece L. Griffin an email. When emailing, please include a photo of yourself, your credentials, and whatever content you wish to share in the newsletter, day changed to Sunday evening's now biweekly instead of weekly. Any time sensitive communication will be sent out immediately. Deadline for submissions is Fridays by 12:00pm. Look forward to spotlighting all of your hard work.

Scholarship & Benefits

We are excited to announce that applications for the second annual Hermain Armstrong Awards are now open! We will be awarding $1000 prizes to six students, in the 6th grade or higher, who demonstrate their commitment to fighting against ableism in education. Students in middle school, high school and higher education (community college, college, university, and graduate and professional degree programs) are eligible for this award. Awardees will be interviewed about their educational experiences and their interviews will be published on The Coetho Center and Equal Opportunities for Students webpages and other social media platforms.

We have sought to make the application process as accessible as possible. Students can apply via our online form or they can submit a video answering our application questions. We require no letters of recommendation, no resume, and no GPA for the award. There is no age requirement for the award, as we understand not all students follow the implicit timeline of our school system. Our only requirements are that the applicant (1) is a current student with a disability who (2) is willing to do a video interview upon winning the award.

We would appreciate you sharing the information on the following page with your network. Our Houston Armstrong Awards Informational Video is captioned, transcribed and has ASL interpretation.

We appreciate the valuable work you do to fight for the rights of students with disabilities! Thank you for your continued support, and please reach out if you have any questions.

Lead On!

Rev. Phyllis Ray Jackson Legacy Scholarship

Rev. Phyllis Jackson is, first and foremost, a woman of faith who cares deeply about God's people and their wholeness of mind, body, and spirit. As a registered nurse, she has consistently used her nursing knowledge and skills to both initiate and support health promotion efforts within African American churches, as well as in other faith and community settings. Her passion for this work is unmistakable and her vision, her enthusiasm, and her ability to draw others into this work has made a true difference in the health of so many people within the greater Rochester area, especially among the African American churches that have partnered with her in this work. The Interdenominational Health Ministry Coalition (IHMC) is establishing this legacy scholarship in honor of all that she has set in motion.

THE ROCHESTER ACADEMY OF MEDICINE

Hi everyone.

We are excited to kick-off our nomination process for the Rochester Academy of Medicine's 2022 Annual Awards!

Our award program continues to grow in size, reach and popularity as we now have 15 awards spread across five newly designed award categories:

- Lifetime Achievement
- Distinguished Service
- Academic
- Student Scholarship
- RAoM Volunteer of the Year

We are also excited to share that, within the Student Scholarship category, we are proud to be partnering with The Rochester Black Nurses Association who is sponsoring a new student scholarship titled the "Ms. Rosa Wims - The Heart of Community Health, Bridging the Gap" award. This scholarship will be bestowed upon an undergraduate African American/Black nursing student. Details of this scholarship are within the link below.

Nominations are being accepted now through September 1, 2022 and you can view a full listing of the awards and nomination process by clicking this link: RAoM 2022 Annual Awards.

The award program will be on October 18, 2022 at 6:30 PM both in-person (1441 East Avenue) and live-streamed.

Thank you, in advance, for joining in on the nomination process and we look forward to your submissions for what will most assuredly be an excellent award program in October!

POSTER PRESENTATIONS

Culturally Relevant Nursing Advising to Support Student Excellence in a Predominately White Institution
 Yvette Conyers, DNP, MS, RN, FNP-C, CTN-B, CFCN, CFCS

Introduction and Background

- Role of advising and current advising method is not sufficient to meet the needs of our students, especially those who identify as Black/Brown and where English is not the primary language.
- Advising is the role of each faculty member but is not meaningful or relationship oriented. Advising orientation provided in detail
- Faculty Advisor randomly assigned to students as a sophomore during their first semester
- Disconnect between general advising and nursing major advising

Culturally Relevant Advising

- Takes into consideration the student's culture, history, and experiences and requires the advisor to use their comprehensive knowledge to engage with their students across cultural differences
- Acknowledging and addressing issues of race and racism is important in establishing rapport between the faculty advisor and the student of Color.
- Advisors who engage in this style of advising may see positive student outcomes that result in higher levels of student satisfaction, trust, and feelings of empowerment.

Objective/Goals

- Create a culturally responsive nursing advising model with a focus on under-represented students and those where English is a second language.
 - Increase satisfaction of advising for faculty and students
 - Create an environment of academic students' success
 - Recognize the role informal advising has on faculty tenure and promotion process.

Framework-Inclusive Excellence Ecosystem for Academic Nursing

Implementation Plan

Discussion

- There are no formal evaluation of advisors, and area of change to support the promotion and tenure of faculty.
- Similar to class evaluation by students, advising feedback should be included in yearly evaluations
- It is important to note that advising is not always formal and should be taken into consideration.
- As the only faculty of color mainly in the undergraduate program, students who were mainly from under-represented groups would seek me out for general conversation.
- The feeling of having someone that is relatable and approachable is important to the success of a students

Next Steps

- Review previous evidence for student support in a PWI
- Complete a focus group/survey with current students on their experience with advising. The focus group should include those from under-presented groups and ESL.
- Add informal advising to evaluation of faculty as advisors
- Create advisee feedback tool for students to complete each semester on their advisor.
- Allow time during faculty meetings for advising discussion to review processes. This will allow for accountability of advisors.
- Include students on forming culturally relevant advising to be inclusive from the beginning
- Create stronger relationship between general advisors and nursing faculty advisors
- Be intentional in creating safe and inclusive spaces for students
